By Associated Press.
ON BOARD U. S. S. CALIFORNIA, Mazatlan, June 10, via San Diego, June 11.—Heavy firing on the outskirts of Mazatlan were heard tonight.
It is believed the Constitutionalists are advancing for a determined assault.
A well directed attack it is thought, would result in the capture of the city.
The Constitutionalists forces besieging the city, it was learned today, stormed a hill of strategic importance north of the city Tuesday night. A new wall of concrete also fell into their possession.

The discovery was made today that the breach plugs of all the Federal gunners at Fort Rosales except one were missing. The artillery officer in charge has despaired.

SEEK TO CLEAR YOUTH*Embodiment of Victim Only Wanted Thomas' Testimony, Witnesses Say.

By Associated Press.
WAYNESBURG, June 11.—Jack Gray, a stone mason of Waynesburg, was the first witness called by the defense today at the trial of Walter Thomas, charged with the murder of Mrs. Josephine Price at Rice's Landing last September. Gray testified that on September 3 last while working on a bridge near Clarksville on an automobile containing Walter Price and two other men stopped and told him they were looking for Thomas. He said that Price remembered he did not cure so much about catching Thomas but that he wanted Thomas' evidence.

Gray was corroborated by Daniel Gray who was also working on the bridge. When asked what Price said Thomas was wanted for the murder of Mrs. Price.

Miss Frances Herdman, the nurse who attended Bertha Fox at the hospital, testified that when she was examined by the child, she admitted an examination that she could not affix the clothing worn by Bertha Fox as she was brought to the hospital.

Two men broke into the home of Andy Winosky at Everson early this morning, took $150 and shot Andy through the nightshirt. Their victim escaped injury, although the bullet passed within a fraction of an inch of his side. The men gained entrance through a window into a room on a level with Brown street. The money they obtained was a portion of the previous night's receipts at Winosky Brothers' store, adjoining Andy's residence.

LONG QUARREL RESULTS IN A SHOOTING; VICTIM DYING*Henry Cramer of Somerset County Said to Have Awakened Victim in Cornfield.*Special to The Courier.

SOMERSET, June 11.—Henry Cramer, a 60-year-old blacksmith of Kingswood, near Ursina, is said to have shot and fatally wounded William Trimpey, a neighbor, in the public road about 8 o'clock this morning.
Cramer is alleged to have contacted himself in his cornfield up until Trimpey came along and then walked to the public road, shooting his victim in the abdomen with a shotgun.

After the shooting Cramer is said to have retreated to a task of ploughing corn. County Detective Lester G.
Wagner left Somerset at noon to arrest him on the charge of attempted murder.

Trimpey was taken to his home where it was said he has little chance to recover. The two men are said to have quarreled during the past year over a private road Cramer had constructed. The girl who Trimpey lives with, and neighbors say Trimpey had expressed the fear that Cramer would harm him.

TELL OF MURDER*Eye-Witnesses Describe Killing of Girl by Mondello*Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, June 11.—The testimony of eye witnesses was a feature in the case of Nicolo Mondello this morning, charged with the murder of Lillian Leonard in a Uniontown restaurant. S. H. Hannon, a real estate dealer about 1320 Wednesday morning getting into the restaurant at the time of the shooting, said that he heard the girl say "I have a notion to have you arrested," and that Mondello then said, "Who will you have arrested?" and the girl replied, "You." He testified that Mondello was sitting at a table, sprang to his feet, pulled a revolver from his pocket, fired two shots at the girl and ran from the restaurant.

Tony Merrill, who was going to a howling alley, testified that he saw Mondello run from the restaurant following the shooting, across the street to the West Penn terminal.

Charles Blaser and Robert Whitely testified that they saw Mondello leave the building and enter the West Penn terminal. When he saw them following him he reached into his pocket for a revolver. He dropped the revolver and Whitely picked it up and gave it to County Detective Smith. The testimony by all the witnesses corroborated each other. As to what plea the defense will make is awaited with intense interest. It is thought by some that a plea of insanity will be made.

TRAIN HITS AUTO*Dr. J. L. Cochran Has Narrow Escape on West Side.

An automobile driven by Dr. J. L.
Cochran was struck by a freight train on Eighth street, West Side, this morning and badly damaged. According to Doctor Cochran the engineer sounded no warning of the train's approach.
The automobile was upon the tracks before the driver saw the approaching train. Doctor Cochran opened the throttle and attempted to get across before the locomotive struck him. It failed.

The engine struck the rear of the automobile and hurled it against a marble shop of A. W. Hart. Doctor Cochran was badly shaken up, but was otherwise unharmed. The car was badly damaged.

SWAT THE FLX.*Y. M. C. A. Will Pay Youngsters 25 Cents a Quart for Them.

As a means of encouraging the campaign against the pestiferous fly, the Y. M. C. A., through Secretary E. T.
Bauer, has announced that it will pay 25 cents a quart for dead ones. The offer is open to the young people only.
A donation of $5 has already been received to start the fly-killing fund, but more money will be needed.
Secretary Bauer believes great good will result if many flies can be exterminated and there is likely to be considerable competition among those seeking to cash in.

The flies may be wanted or caught in any kind of a trap the swaters desire.

Following a trail 13 hours old, B. & O. Officer T. C. Phelan's two blood-hounds yesterday afternoon ran down a man who entered the cellar of the home of J. H. Williams at 1107 Sym-amore street shortly after midnight Wednesday. The follow was overtaken by the dogs as he was standing in his bare feet in Trump run, a short distance from the main crusher on the South Side. He was performing his duties with a mirror hung on a tree and a shaving outfit in his hand.

Mrs. Williams was about her house about 12:30 Wednesday morning getting a poultice for her mother-in-law.
As she passed one of the windows she saw a man creeping along the alley.
The bright moonlight made it possible for her to see him. She called out to him and he disappeared into the cellar of the house. Alarmed, she awakened her husband. Mr. Williams decided to take no chances, so he secured a shotgun and waited at the window for the intruder to emerge from the cellar. After waiting for probably an hour, the telephone bell rang to call him out for his run on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. A moment later Mr. Williams dashed out and scattered along the alley. He fired three shots and the fellow was heard to shout, "Oh, my God, don't shoot." He continued his flight, however.

After her husband had gone to work Mrs. Williams called Officer Phelan by phone and asked him to put his blood-hounds on the trail, but it was not until 1 o'clock that afternoon that he found time to do so.

The dogs, which are but four months old, were sent out on the trail immediately and without faltering followed it up the alley in exactly the direction that a frightened man would be likely to run, up the run to the main crusher and finally down the creek. There a man was found standing in his bare feet in the water, leisurely rinsing the shaving studs from his face. A pair of No. 9 shots were fired at him and he fled. He was followed by the dogs and the trail was lost. Officer Phelan did not molest him but took the dogs back and allowed them to follow the scent again. This time they also went direct to the creek, where the man was again in the water.

Questioned by Phelan, the man said his name was Joe Arnold and declared that he usually "made" Connelville about every two years in his run.
He said he had been sleeping at the ovens for some time past.

Phelan did not arrest the man but came in to police headquarters this morning to tell Chief Rogers so that he could warn Arnold. He is still hanging around, but he must get out of town. So far as is known, nothing was stolen from the Williams place.
Other South Connelville residents, however, have lost considerable property recently. Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Gibson and Pittsburg streets found a half a box of onions and other things missing from her garden on Monday morning.

Fayette Field may not be lost forever as an athletic ground. The school board will try to buy the fence from the Keystone Lumber Company and thus prevent its being torn down. The supply committee was authorized to make a reasonable offer to the company with the understanding that the athletic committee of high school is to give the board a note for the amount and pay it off whenever it can. The deal is also dependent upon whether satisfactory arrangements for the use of the field can be made with Claude W. Harris, the owner.

The Keystone Lumber Company erected the fence at a cost of something like $2,000 for the use of league baseball teams. It has never gotten around to paying for it. The league promised to pay a royalty of $500 per game and Manager Mack did give the lumber company a check for $1200 which was subsequently found to be no good. The company has begun to put its threat to tear down the fence into execution, but it is said a reasonable offer from the school board will be accepted.

Two vacancies in the high school teaching corps were filled. Selon J.
Fisher of Norwinton, Pa., a graduate of Kutztown Normal and a member of this year's graduating class at Lafayette, was chosen to succeed Miss Jessema DeHaven as history teacher at a salary of $100 per month. He was also given vacation to be taken at his pleasure. Rev. Burgess on last Sunday celebrated his 19th anniversary as pastor of the church.

D. K. Arman and J. L. Fries were elected elders; S. G. Zimmerman, M.
J. Rohm, Dr. H. C. Hoffman and Daniel Davis were elected deacons.
J. L. Fries as elder, succeeded John Kock, deceased. The amount received from the general fund, the building fund, and the benevolent fund during the year was $9,027.51.
Mrs. Lydia Frey reported that the Ladies' Aid Society had increased during the year from 51 to 54. The total enrollment of the Sunday school is 1,050 and the average attendance during the year was 385.

E. Dunn is today advertising as a merchant for the last time in The Courier, after having used its columns is retiring from business and his fare-page.

It was in 1881, on November 11, that Mr. Dunn began using The Courier as an advertising medium. That he continued throughout the succeeding years is evidence that the advertising paid. The first advertisement was that of Dunn & Harding, as the firm was then known. When The Daily Courier was established in 1902, Mr. Dunn contracted for a full single column on the editorial page, and with every issue after that, his advertisement appeared.

With interesting exercises, Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, formally turned the magnificent $55,000 Y. M. C. A. building of Dick-

1 o'clock the dedicatory exercises began and at 8 o'clock, General Secretary Frank H. Everingham began the conduct of the Y. M. C. A. business.
It was a great day in Dickerson Run.
No holiday was ever marked by a bigger celebration. Several thousand persons from the surrounding towns and from a distance, the latter brought by two special trains, passed through the building during the afternoon and evening, and at least 500 were on hand during the exercises. The assembly hall, which has seats for 250, was crowded to its full capacity. The construction building was prettily decorated.
There were bouquets of flowers everywhere and on the platform in the assembly hall was an unusually beautiful display of ferns, palms and evergreens, donated for the occasion by Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran. At the far end of the assembly hall was hung a large portrait of Colonel Schoonmaker, with a wreath of white roses and evergreens cast over it. Out in the reading room a handsome picture containing individual portraits of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie department heads and a large portrait of the dedication a big victrola in the reading room and Kiefer's orchestra in the assembly hall furnished music.

motives and the building. The board of anyone else is due the credit for the construction of the building for he attended to practically all the details of its erection, fell the honor of conducting the exercises. Mr. Turner is very popular at Dickerson Run and he was accorded a warm reception.

The visiting railway men declared that as far as equipment and convenience were concerned they had never seen a better Y. M. C. A. building. Of course there are larger buildings but none better equipped.
A night's lodging may be secured for its guests at a very low price. It served at low prices, it being possible to secure a substantial meal for from 25 to 50 cents.

The membership is increasing by leaps and bounds since the completion of the building. The board of managers is composed of F. H. Ever-ingham, secretary; Joseph Snyder, chairman; J. L. Thomas, secretary; R.
D. Henry, treasurer; C. Collins, T. D. Schuyler, John Evans, J. W.
Haney, S. J. Stoner, W. E. Bacon, J. M. Harris and L. H. Turner.

The invocation was asked by Rev.
H. A. Baum, then a quartette composed of C. R. Gray, president of the Western Maryland railroad; S. Enns, general superintendent of the Western Maryland and F. H. Everingham, general secretary, with a violin solo by Miss Florence Leonard and a solo by H. Hahn, interpreted. The singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the audience and the benediction by Rev.
B. C. Musgrave closed the exercises.

The building was completely furnished by a strenuous effort for the date set for the dedication two weeks ago. All was seemingly chaos. Lumber, wiring, crates of furniture and hundreds of other things were utilized the remaining construction work were strewn about. Out of all this came a wholly completed and furnished building. Not a detail has been neglected. The lobby, however, was were stuck, the reading tables had a generous supply of magazines, upstairs the dormitory rooms were all ready for occupancy, the bowling alleys and pool tables were in place, the bath and toilet rooms, and savory odors were issuing from the kitchen.

HOW THIN PEOPLE CAN PUT ON FLESH

A New Discovery.

This man and woman—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight, one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—renew the entire circulating power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, an extract of your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. This people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all druggists sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.—Adv.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pale, both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had no strength left."

There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

—Mrs. Josie H. M., R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

SCOTSDALE

SCOTSDALE, June 11.—Joseph Valovic, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Valovic, formerly of Everett, was drowned while swimming in the reservoir of the Frick Coke Company at Hecla, where the family lives, on Tuesday evening. The boy was aged 17, and with him were several other boys including his brother, John, who it is said cannot swim. Members of the first aid team of the Frick company worked for two hours with a pump in an effort to revive the boy. The body was not recovered for four hours after it sank to the bottom of the reservoir. The drowning is believed to have been caused by an attack of cramps. Divers were searched for a long time, and at last Isaac Foran, one of the divers, located the body. It will be brought to Scottdale for burial.

THINGS THAT COUNT.

The Best Index to a Man's Character and Standing. Hands that work, a mind that thinks and a heart that makes the welfare of his family the first consideration—these are the things that make a man worth while. His bank book is, therefore, the best index to a man's character—the truest indication of his real regard for his family—the best recommendation he can offer his employer. Think this over, young man. THE RECORD.

The position of The Courier on the water question has been plainly stated on every occasion this called for expression. We think everybody in Connelville understands it with the single exception of our present contemporary, The News. It is unable or unwilling to do so. It says: "Ye Gods! What a spectacle is presented to our astonished and acrimony-laden eyes. The quaint old Courier has actually turned tail on one very important municipal proposition and has espoused the Cause of the People. Will wonders never cease? Does the oldest citizen hold in sacred memory a case of such momentous interest? The question of compulsory water meters is a live one in Connelville today. We need every private and public influence to combat it. Happy indeed, for Connelville, that the Kuhn interests are no longer the guiding stars of the destinies of the Connelville Water Company. Thrice welcome, little brother, to the cause of reform."

At the risk of boring our readers with repetition, we desire briefly to present the facts bearing upon our attitude toward the Connelville Water Company. The Courier some twenty years ago demanded in the name of the Connelville public the removal of the West Side pumping station further up the river, on the ground that the pump was sitting on the polluted waters of Dunbar creek; and the plant was shortly afterward removed to this station. In 1907 came the rule of the State, which required the pump to be located above them. This was promptly done.

Upon several occasions within the past ten years there has been agitation looking toward the purchase of the water plant. At no time, however, was the borough in financial position to acquire the plant upon any basis of valuation proposed, because of the constitutional limitation of borough indebtedness. The Courier on each occasion pointed out this fact, and this action on our part is the basis of the charge so frequently made that we favored the water company as against the citizens.

When the constitution was amended and enabled legislation passed whereby it finally became possible for the city to acquire the plant, The Courier was the first to say that the matter of purchasing it should be put up to the people for their vote as soon as council and the collector had time to investigate the wisdom of such action and lay their conclusions before the citizens.

When the water company gave notice that it would impose meters upon a large number of its consumers, The Courier was the first to voice a protest against such arbitrary action. It was not the first protest, of this character it had uttered, either. We have always held to this view, and it has been editorially and otherwise expressed in our columns on other occasions extending back some fifteen years or more when the first meters were installed without the consent of consumers.

On the other hand, The News, on the day following The Courier's protest, against imposing meters upon unwilling consumers, probably out of the spirit of pure perversity which frequently afflicts it, became the voluntary apologist for the water company. If The Courier thought the meters were bad things The News felt sure they must be good things. Director J. Fougere changed the policy of The News the very next day, and there was nothing uncertain about the change. The News may have no use for the Irish but the Irish sometimes have others for The News.

The public spirit of The News in the matter of the public water supply has been of a friendly and impotent character. While we are willing to give it credit with a desire to serve the people its agitation of the water question has seldom been free from unworthy motives. It has been polluted with selfishness, jealousy and revenge. We venture to say that The News does not know today where it stands on the water question, or why. If it does, it will be the first time in history.

There is the difference between Connelville's two newspapers. The Courier has always endeavored to discuss a question intelligently, while our contemporary has contented itself with beating the tomsies in blarney language of anything save the loud noise it made.

IT HAD.

The News asks the following rather personal question: "And by-the-way, was there a meter installed, willy nilly, in the editor's home?"

There was, on wash day, too. The editor of The Courier has always paid for the water service at the same rates as other consumers. No favors have ever been extended to him by the water company at any time under any management or ownership. We trust our answer has been to the point.

It looks so gloomy for Pentecost in Pennsylvania that President Wilson and most of the Cabinet will stomp the state this fall for Palmer. The Professor will have a great deal to explain, especially if he comes out to the coke region.

The water question is on its way with every prospect of going the limit.

The school picnic has been embained in the movies. It had lots of action.

Yesterday was a great day for Dickerson Run and Jim Yoh, even if it did rain.

Dunn's Store

Saturday night, June 13th, this sign comes down. For over 41 years it has told the people of Connelville and vicinity that we were here to serve them. For over 41 years our service has been the very best that we knew how to give. Every bit of knowledge that we possessed has been put into the effort to make this store a real benefit to you as well as to ourselves. As a store we have never worked for large profits, but we have tried to offer you dependable goods. From the very first we never talked cheapness, but quality. Such success as has come to us as a store is largely due to the loyal help that we have been able to have behind our counters. Those here now and those that have left us for other fields served both you and us faithfully and well. Looking back over 41 years of store life in Connelville, it is pretty hard for us to say just how many names are on our books now that were with us when we first started, but there's a goodly number, while the number that have been with us for the past 25 years runs into many hundreds. Of this record the store is proud. We as a store are also proud of the E. Dunn Educational Fund. As a store we believe this to be one of the best, if not the best thing we or any store ever established, and our satisfaction comes from the fact that 15 years from now will see, not hundreds, but perhaps thousands of Connelville children with funds for a better education than they otherwise would have. We have started this fund and our successors are just as much interested in it as we are.

And now, a word or two about our successors. We have known them both for years. We want every customer to meet them and get acquainted with them. Under their guidance we know this will be a larger and better store; that you will be served even better in the future than you were in the past. We wish them success; we wish you success. Come in and say goodbye to Dunn's Store. We'll be glad to see you. As a store, Dunn's Store says goodbye.

KOBACKER'S LUCKY PURCHASE.

One of Pittsburgh's finest, exclusive Ladies' and Misses' ready to wear Specialty Stores—Ripley's, the house of quality, retired from the retail business June 1st, and we are the fortunate buyers of $10,000 worth of its choicest merchandise.

At 40c and 50c on the Dollar

Ripley's, the house of quality, was well known in Pittsburgh and had perhaps every reason for placing its hopes high and anticipate one of the greatest seasons in its business career. But, if every plan conceived by the human mind was successful, if every hope was realized this would indeed be a happy world in which to live.

Something unforeseen happened and Ripley had to decide to retire from the retail field on short notice and sell their wonderful assortment of merchandise at an immense sacrifice. Now, in every stock, no matter how well selected, a certain accumulation is bound to happen, therefore, we only selected the choicest of the House of Quality merchandise.

We feel sure in stating with all possible emphasis, that garments of such rich style; of such desirable materials, and the fact that the summer season is just opening, will make this sale a combination rarely met with.

ITCHING ECZEMA IS DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Use Like Cold Cream to Subdue Irritation and Clear the Skin.

Constant or intermittent irritation producing itching and red, angry, eczema patches on the skin is readily relieved with bold-sulphur cream. The moment it is applied the itching stops and the healing begins, says a noted dermatologist.

It effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated eczema that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur cream has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties. It is not only parasiticidal but also antipruritic and antiseptic and nothing has ever been found to take its place in overcoming irritating and inflammable affections of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance it instantly stops the agonizing itching, subdues the irritation and heals the inflamed raw skin right up and it is often years later before any eczema eruption again appears.

Those troubled should get from any pharmacist, an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it directly upon the affected skin like you would any ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the eczema is accompanied with itching.

CHAPTER XII

A Prima Donna of the Past.

Dorcas and Merry passed for a moment before a flight of steps which led up to what had once been a fine private residence. The crowd that gathered here was as motley as any you find in New York.

"What a queer place," said the girl. "You can't realize its greatness until we are inside. The crowd that gathers here is as motley as any you find in New York."

Dorcas ran lightly up the steps. The cafe, shabby and weather-beaten outside, was bizarre inside. At the farther end a dais of painted canvas attempted to create the illusion of a ballroom. Against it rose a theatrical apple tree. A hundred electric lights blazed inside crimson apples on its widespread branches. Under it, at a huddle of tables, people were dining vociferously. The place shrieked its antagonism to the civilized ceremony of feeding. Humanly dug its elbows into one another while it handled knives and forks, and screamed its conversation. The room reeked with a hundred odors of highly-seasoned food and tobacco smoke. It was a bewildering blend of light and smells and noise. Dorcas followed Merry through the labyrinth to a small table in a distant corner, hedged about with palms.

"I come here time and again," confessed Merry after they were seated. "I love the place; the crowd is so interesting. People let themselves loose in a way like this. They enjoy life."

"I should think they did," Dorcas laughed gaily.

Across the room a party of college boys were humming a ragtime tune in utter inharmonious to the orchestra's music. Corks were popping amid the rattle of dishes and silver while laughter in a hundred tones, and the languages of all the old Latin races, were blended in the general babel.

"It's a droll little world," said Merry. Dorcas pulled off her gloves and set something down between her fingers.

"Remember," Andrew gazed about him in a reminiscent mood, "one season I was tied up with a summer production, and it was horrible, horrible in New York. There was but a girl in our company I wanted to fraternize with."

People Were Dining Vociferously.

with. Enoch was West. I used to come here night after night and work myself into a light-headed mood. I had a part I hated. I did not go on until the second act, so sometimes I stayed here until half-past seven. The place waked me up. I got into a queer humor while watching people. Before it wore off I used to dash to the theater, as one acts when you are overpowered with sleep, and try to get to bed before you go wide awake again. Usually I don't have to hammer myself into the disposition for work. When I am cast for some role that makes one fairly snort with impatience, it is horribly hard to feel like it. If I get a human character, I love it."

"Like John Kesterbrook?"
"Yes, like John Kesterbrook." Miss Dorcas, Merry went on eagerly, "I went tramping yesterday—alone. I found myself within sight of another state before I pulled up. I was—honest, I thrashed things out with myself. I'm going to make John Kesterbrook the biggest thing that has struck New York in years."

Dorcas laughed. She felt foolishly happy.

"I am so glad," she said. "Up to me to do the best I can; I owe it to you." There was grim determination in Merry's voice; "to you and Oswald, he's a prince of a good fellow; now Alice Volk and the child come into it."

"And yourself?"
"Yes myself. If I succeed, it means relieving more than you imagine."

"And you will confess you wrote the play?"
"Not yet."

"Why?"
"Miss Dorcas," Merry's voice had a tone of entreaty in it. "I want to ask one thing of you. I ask it because your faith in me is so great and uplifting. Drop the authorship of the play. I cannot explain. I cannot fight the thoughts you have of me. You said once, 'I believe in you.' Do you remember?"

Dorcas looked at him with steadfast eyes and nodded.

"Go on believing. It's the kindest thing you can do for me, and—for Enoch."

Their eyes made a compact though no word was spoken. They lingered over strange dishes that came and went. Food seemed merely a circumstance, an excuse for being alone and together. They felt curiously isolated, for the noise made a retreat for them as silence does. A sudden hush fell on the babel of sound. The orchestra, which had rested for a few minutes, began again—not one of its long overtures, but a prelude to the world music in an Italian opera. Through the murky atmosphere a woman's voice shrilled out with rare sweetness.

Dorcas rose to her feet for a second, searching for the singer, then she seated herself with her back to the table. The crash of dishes, the rattle of silver, and the popping of corks continued, but tongues were stilled except for one voice. It was singing the tremendous aria from "Ernani." The girl drew a long breath as the last notes died away into silence then she turned eagerly to Merry.

"Who is she?"
"I'll tell you in a minute."

She turned again to look at the singer, who stood crushed into a narrow balcony which was crowded to discomfort by a piano and four musicians. The woman was absurdly fat and absurdly gowned. Years ago, in the palmy days of a concert tour, she had swept upon the platform in a robe of burnt orange velvet splashed gorgeously with silver lace and scintillating embroidery. It had seven years of history, then grown tawdry, unfashionable, and grotesquely queer. It resembled Dorcas of the stately door in the last stage of shabbiness. The woman's straw-colored hair was gathered into a ridiculous pompadour. From the dining room, through murk and a tobacco smoke, the girl could see careworn wrinkles about the singer's eyes. The vivid scarlet of her cheeks was pitifully false, false as the whiffiness of her vast, bare shoulders.

Again she began to sing, something which came thrilling from the wonderful throat with perfect coloratura. She threw back her head and tilted her face till Dorcas saw only the profile. For one moment the gross lines disappeared; lustre came a glimpse of beauty and picturesqueness, a dignity which belonged to the days of youth and power, the royal days of a singer.

The room rang with an encore, then came a shriek of command. "Dance!" shouted the group of students in a corner.

"Oh!" cried Dorcas piteously. "Oh! how can they do it?"

The musicians huddled themselves and their instruments closer together, indifferently as if it were part of every night's program. The pianist struck a few bars of some tinkling thing in a musical comedy, then the singer began to sway her huge body. There was no space for her feet to move.

She sang to the accompaniment, but the physical effort made her wheeze. The orchestra dashed into a tripping chorus, and the enthusiasm of the guests waxed high. Cheers were intermingled with laughter and screams of derision.

"Oh!" cried Dorcas, "oh! the shame of it!"

The singer sank in a chair exhausted, then she rose and pushed her way down from the balcony. Dorcas watched her with a pitiful gaze. Perspiration was washing white streaks through the patches of rouge on her cheeks.

"Who is the woman?" she asked.
"Twenty-five years ago her name was famous from one end of Italy to the other. When she went to Genoa, to fill an engagement the whole town turned out to meet her, the shops closed, and it was a public holiday. The people pulled her with flowers, and screamed themselves hoarse in a welcome. She was the star of the Bellini in Naples. She sang in Paris and London. She came here, grew sick and could not fill her engagements. A manager went back on her, she lost what money she had, friends deserted her, she came down to this."

"Oh, the poor soul!" Dorcas' voice was a whisper.

NEWS OF DAWSON, DICKERSON RUN AND VANDERBILT

Last evening shortly before 6 o'clock during a heavy shower of rain the lightning struck the Cochran brothers' barn near Dawson and it was burned down. Newton Junk lives on the Cochran brothers' property. Lightning also struck and badly damaged a shade tree near Dr. J. H. Hazzlett's residence during the same shower.

Glassport and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Young Men's Christian Association basketball teams crossed paths near the new Y. M. C. A. building yesterday. The score stood 12 to 8 in favor of Glassport.

Re-dedication services of the Vanderbilt Presbyterian Church will begin tomorrow evening and will continue until Sunday evening closing with the Children's Day exercises.

John McLaughlin is on the sick list. Joseph Kinnick, who received a spinal limb at the Dickerson Run car shops a few weeks ago has recovered.

Construction work will begin at once on a large bridge to lead from the Young Men's Christian Association building to the round house of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

Last evening the new Young Men's Christian Association building located on one of the most picturesque scenic spots in Pennsylvania, was beautifully lighted up and great crowds of people kept coming and going from the early part of the evening until late at night, visiting the structure and equipment which is a credit to the vicinity and community at large.

The town of Dickerson Run was begun after the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad came through to New Haven in 1881-82. It was planned and laid out by the late Henry Galley who owned the large farm on which it was built. The town was originally called Lakelike but went by the name of Galleyville. When the railroad station was built it was called Dickerson Run from the run nearby which was named for Joshua Dickerson, the pioneer settler in that vicinity.

A good sized town rapidly sprang up and a postoffice was secured by Mr. Galley James Bear built the first early residents were the Ebers, Clarkes, Elts. The first child born in the town, Schoolers, Agapars, Greens and Crowds.

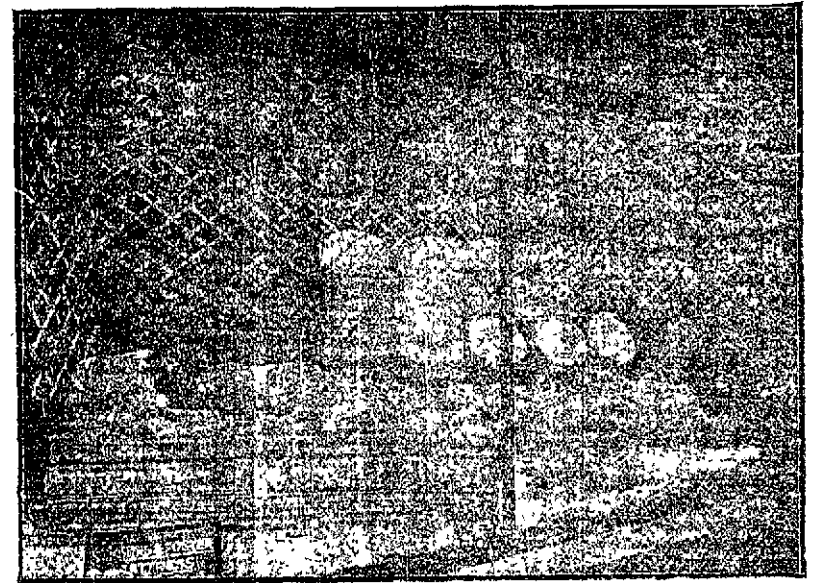

About three weeks ago the railroad company bought the whole river bottom consisting of about 100 acres and the whole town was torn down and moved to the hill above and is now known as New Dickerson Run.

The present site also belonged to the Galley farm but had passed from their hands some years ago to George Souders who was the promoter of the new town. The location of the new Young Men's Christian Association building just dedicated is on the brow of the hill overlooking the old town and Dawson and commands one of the finest views along the river. The new building will add materially to the town in every way and with the terminal of the Western Maryland here Dickerson Run may be said to be just beginning her career as a center of railroad activity.

THE ARCADE.

COMPLETE CHANGE OF BILL.

The Lather & Gates Musical Comedy Company will offer a complete change of bill for the last half of this week. This well dressed bunch of pretty girls and those comedians will present a musical comedy entitled "A One Night Stand" a vehicle full of new musical numbers, dancing and funny sayings. The seven girls present a live bunch and will no doubt draw a good patronage to the Avenue for the next three days. The photograph feature in three reels will be "The Days of the Six Nations" a strong American Indian production.

Complain of Quarantine.
Complaints are being made by West Side residents that quarantine is not being strictly kept in a scarlet fever case on that side of the river. The house has been quarantined, yet people pass in and out, and the children go out and mingle with the others in the neighborhood.

SALE OF TOILET GOODS BEGINS THIS FRIDAY

Necessary face creams, soaps, talcums, toilet waters, perfumes, Pompeian massage, manicure requisites and toilet pieces.

All the goods have merit and are known to constant users. Some things are half price; savings on all are worth while.

All toilet goods sold at Wright-Metzler are high quality and reliable. This is true whether prices are firm or lowered for a time, as in the instance of this sale which goes for two weeks. This sale of toilet requisites is an established service conducted regularly each summer. The advantages of the sale to us are: A.—It introduces toilet goods that become established when once used. B.—It hastens the selling of certain things that people don't ask for except when the benefit of their uses is concisely explained by a sales person. To you, the summer sale is broadly helpful to personal comfort and to purse. Buy a supply for all summer, more particularly if you plan to go out of town. These low prices are a rare good fortune.

In the preparations for this sale, special stress was laid on assembling articles required for summer use—creams for sunburn, soaps soothing to the skin, powders to allay "prickly heat," scents refreshingly delicate—ALL safe to use!

The Entire Stock of Wright-Metzler Women's Suits in a Sale at Half Price

The price change is on a stock unequaled in town for variety and newness, elegance of model and material, expert tailoring and completeness of color, size and pattern.

The difference between Wright-Metzler Clothes and others is "QUALITY." Our garments are distinctly serviceable, because they're well made; wearable, because they're truly fashionable; desirable, because they are known to be worth the full prices asked. Earlier prices were lowest in town, fair and the same to everybody. These clothes are not half-price today for any other reason than that they've had their selling season
